Tires that did not require resetting in thirty years—on a Studebaker

WHEELS are the life of a wagon. Hubs, spokes, felloes and tires of the best materials, put together by skilled workmen, go into every Studebaker.

What is the result? Mr. William H. Horton, of Nineveh, N. Y., writes that the tires on his thirty-six year old Studebaker farm wagon did not need resetting in thirty years—and the wagon was in use every day.

We can prove to you that this is not an exceptional Studebaker wagon. There are thousands of Studebaker wagons in use today that are forty years old and more. And that have cost their owners little or nothing for repairs.

Come in and look over our stock of Studebaker vehicles. Let us show you how well they are built.

Studebaker wagons are sound investments, every time

Adelphie Literary Society of the Maysville High School Defeats the Athenaeum in Very Exciting Contest.

The Adelphie Literary Society of the Maysville High School defeated the Athenaeum Society last evening in the eighth annual contest between the two. The judges had a difficult time in making a decision as the two were very close.

This is the first win of the Adelphie Society for five years, the opposition having carried off the honors during that time. The societies were founded in 1909 by Miss Nell Sutherland, now of the Ashland High School, for the purpose of giving the students instruction in literary work. During the first few years each student was expected to appear once during the year, but after the High School had grown to the present proportions it was seen that this could not be done. The members of the Freshmen Class were exempted from appearing on the stage during the year, although they are members of the Societies and have full powers of voting in all elections.

The contest last evening was said to be the best ever conducted between the societies. Every one on the program did his or her best and the result was a very close contest.

During the Interlude, while the judges conferred as to the winners, the Junior Class of the school have a little playlet, "The Ham That Saved the Homestead." The parts were well taken and the switch provoked much laughter.

With the decision of the judges, Miss Hilda Threlkeld, Messrs. S. F. Reed and Clarence Mathews, the members of the Adelphie Society went wild. Their long string of defeats had been broken and their vociferous shouts made it seem as if all of the gods of noise had broken loose.

DIED AT HOSPITAL

Mr. Dan Guilfoyle of the Maysville neighborhood died at the Hospital last night about 9:30 o'clock after being at that institution for about a week. Mr. Guilfoyle was en route to his home from Martinsville, Ind., and upon arrival here was in a too serious a condition to continue the trip. The body was taken to the undertaking parlor of Higgins, Slattery & Dwire, where it was embalmed. The body was taken to the home this morning.

The Clinic will be held in Miss Casey's room on Court street and all mothers are urged to bring their babies to this meeting.

OLD SETTLERS REUNION

Will Be Held at Ruggles Campground On July 4—Annual Event Being Eagerly Looked Forward to By Many Maysvillians.

The Old Settlers' Association of Mason, Fleming and Lewis counties will celebrate the Fourth of July with another of their big picnics and reunions at Ruggles Campground. These annual reunions are becoming more popular and are attended by larger crowds each year. Here the old settlers meet for a day of real pleasure in social mingling, the young people to meet the voters; the women to spread the big chicken dinners for the whole bunch to devour—in a word, it is just one of the best picnics in this section of the country.

On account of present world conditions the Board of Directors think it best to make the day this year ring true with the patriotic spirit. They have secured the Hon. James N. Kehoe to deliver the main speech of the day. This is a positive guarantee that a big treat is in store for the crowd.

Two of Maysville's leading ministers will also speak during the day, the Rev. William Campbell and the Rev. S. K. Hunt, pastors respectively of the First M. E. Church, South and the Third Street M. E. Church.

The music for the day will be furnished by the large chorus choir and orchestra of the Third Street M. E.

ALL-AMERICA

Brazil is entering into an active alliance with the United States for the preservation of national honor and All-American democracy.

Brazil's courageous policy, added to that of Cuba and some of the small Central American countries, has had a powerful effect on Latin-America in general. Chile, which has heretofore professed only a mild form of benevolent neutrality, seems on the point of following Brazil's example. Says the Diaro Ilustrado de Santiago:

"Pan-Americanism and the Monroe Doctrine have a deeper meaning than ever before. Brazil has accused Germany of acts prejudicial of Pan-Americanism. Today it is Brazil; and tomorrow other nations will make the same charge. For the safeguarding of maritime traffic several nations will offer facilities to the United States warships engaged in this work. Chile will be as friendly to the United States as Brazil and Uruguay."

The official course of Argentina is still uncertain, but popular sympathy is admittedly in favor of supporting the United States.

It is evident that all Latin-America is now turning to this country in sympathetic confidence, and recognizing us as a champion of their own liberties from whom they have nothing to fear any everything to gain. The old distrust is gone. Even if a majority of the Latin republics do not actively join us in active warfare, we shall have the moral support and passive co-operation of nearly all of them. That is almost as valuable as active participation would be, while the war lasts, and a guarantee of pleasant and profitable relations after the war.

Pan-America is at last a reality. All America is a moral unit. The Western Hemisphere is wholly dedicated to democracy, and united in spirit to maintain it.

NEWSPAPERS AS VIEWED BY A SIGNER OF THE DECLARATION OF INDEPENDENCE

Henry A. Wise, chairman of the Conference Committee on National Preparedness, has sent to every United States Senator and Representative the following letter:

Dear Sir:
At this juncture may I not call your attention to the following quotation from "THE REVOLUTION IS NOT OVER," by Benjamin Rush, one of the signers of the Declaration of Independence, written in 1787:

"For the purpose of diffusing knowledge, as well as extending the living principle of government to every part of the United States, every State, city, county, village, and township in the Union should be tied together by means of the post office."

"This is the true non-electric wire of government. It is the only means of conveying heat and light to every individual in the federal commonwealth. 'Sweden lost her liberties,' says the Abbe Raynal, 'because her citizens were so scattered that they had no means of acting with each other.' It should be a constant injunction to the postmasters to convey newspapers free of all charge for postage. They are not only the vehicles of knowledge and intelligence, but the sentinels of the liberties of our country."

And yet Congress is trying to legislate many publications out of existence, and seeking to limit the circulation of all to their immediate vicinity instead of encouraging broad national circulation!

Two French bacteriologists contend that modern ventilating systems are dangerous to human health as they distribute disease germs in places where otherwise there would be but few.

About the only thing the Senators and Representatives appear to agree on is that they will not agree to anything the other fellow wants.

In Switzerland every citizen, whether he is a householder or not, is entitled to a vote on attaining the age of 20.

It is better to help the town accomplish one good thing than to point out a dozen poor ones.

At last the coal men are making it warm for the average citizen.

Make this town better and it will get bigger itself.

SUMMER HINTS FOR THE HOME GARDNER

Washington, D. C., June 6—Now that radishes, lettuce, and in some sections peas, spinach and other early crops are being harvested, home gardeners should be making their preparations to utilize the freed space by planting other crops, say specialists of the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

In planning for these plantings, the specialists suggest, it is well at all times, but especially this year, to concentrate efforts on the production of vegetables that have considerable food value and on those which may be stored in their natural condition, dried or canned for winter use. Late Irish potatoes is one of the important crops that can be grown on the freed ground. Navy beans furnish substantial food which is easily stored, and the present market prices make it worth while in sections where they thrive, to replant space from which crops have been harvested, with this legume.

Other vegetables having considerable food value from which choice may be made for late plantings include from which choice may be made for late plantings include sweet corn, string beans, late beets, turnips, tomatoes, squash and pumpkins. As far north as northern New Jersey, southeastern Pennsylvania, central Ohio, central Indiana, northern Illinois and central Iowa, sweet potatoes also may be depended on to mature from plantings made as late as June 10 on sandy land.

Among the less nutritious vegetables which may be planted in soil freed by early harvests are late cabbage and cucumbers. Winter onions, fall lettuce and fall radishes also may be planted late in the season.

It is not essential, the specialists point out, to wait until all radishes, heads of lettuce and other early maturing plants are removed before planting seeds or setting plants for succeeding crops. Corn or beans, for example, may be started in spaces made in radish or lettuce rows, or between the rows. The radishes or lettuce will then be harvested before the late planted crops need all the ground. Equally satisfactory results can be obtained from the combination of other early and late vegetables.

ITALIAN GENERAL WILL STAY HERE TO RECRUIT

Washington, June 5—General Guglielmo, military attaché of the Italian war mission, will remain in this country after the departure of the mission to supervise the operation of a plan designed to solve the problems arising from the uncertain status of Italian men of military age in this country.

The question, raised upon the United States in the war, is one of the most important of the work of the commission with American representation.

Italy will not bring up the question of whether these men could serve in the Italian army, it is learned, and there will be no regiment of Ital-Americans sent to the front.

Through General Guglielmo, however, the Italian government will endeavor to recruit here as many of its unnaturalized citizens as it can.

New York, June 4—Several arrests were made tonight when a crowd estimated to number more than 10,000 broke through the police lines and made a concerted effort to gain entrance to a hall where Emma Goldman and others were to speak against conscription and registration.

The police eventually drove the crowd back and restored order.

Some Fitting Service

That's what a traveling man said to us when we fitted him perfectly in a KUPPENHEIMER suit without a single alteration other than to shorten the trousers.

We can fit you the same way, whether you be built like General Joffre or like the Hon. Arthur Balfour, with our special models in half sizes.

Our clothes are not made to order but they are made to fit.

At the regular weekly meeting of the Maysville Lodge of Redmen on Tuesday night, the members of that lodge voted to keep all members of the lodge in good standing who were drafted for service in either the United States Army or Navy. This was certainly a splendid move on the part of the Redmen as there will probably be several men drafted from that lodge, who would like to be kept in good standing during their absence from their native land.
